

FROM THE EDITOR

Dear Colleagues,

In this supplement of our journal, you will find review formats of some of the lectures about allergic diseases and COVID-19 presented at the night webinars of our Society. All the lecturers received an invitation to write a review article and the papers of those who accepted are being published. In addition, there are three case reports on patients with COVID.

As the editorial team, we hope that this supplement will be helpful for your daily clinical practice during this pandemic period.
